

What does a 20-minute neighborhood mean to you?

Being able to access key destinations easily within 20 minutes has a huge impact on quality of life, and also has an impact on affordability, equity and sustainability.

Today many Ann Arborites live within a 20-minute walk of most of their daily needs (like shopping, groceries, parks and schools). However people of color are more likely to live in neighborhoods with more limited access.

Bringing all residents and destinations closer together in 20-minute neighborhoods creates better access to goods and opportunities, lowers transportation costs, and reduces carbon emissions and air pollution.

INSTRUCTIONS

Imagine it's 2050 and the city has changed in exactly the ways you hope for. In your ideal scenario, how would get to destinations in the city and how long would it take?

Use a RED sticker for walking (including with a mobility device) and a BLUE sticker for biking (or scootering).
